WHERE THEY PLAY TO-DAY. lk at Richmond,

BY GUS MALBERT.

Charlie Babb sat ... the sun-shelered place set aside for the visiting aseball club yesterday and smiled, look of scorn spread over his usually placed features as he glanced at the sench whereon King George and his yorthies were seated. For Charles subb had decided to send his mighitest carrior to the front in order to decinate the upstarts of the newly created House of Cowan, trying to realiste for the manner in which they add flaunted him on the day previous.

It is good that Charles had his smile before the game, for three was never a moment that he had a chance to work the muscles in his face so that they caused a laugh after the beginning. In fact, Babh remained on the ground but a brief space.

Babb Put Out of Game.

He got in an argument with Pender just toward the close of the second spasm because the umpire called Law out for falling asleep about three feet from third base, while Wille Baker had the ball in his hand and tagged him. The argument waxed her and so did the umps, with the result, as is usual in such cases, that Babb was ordered off the field, making the first young man playing baseball who has been so treated in the local grounds this year. But had Babb been present all of the time the result would have been just the same.

First and foremost Cy Pierce pitched a great game of oall. He had very good control, and when the ball came over the hard hitters of the visiting club were unable to connect safely. In all, five hits were made by the Tars, and three of these were of the infield variety, and very scratchy, Only one run was counted, and it was the one run was counted, and it was the result of one of the four passes which Cy gave. Another feature of the game was that it went just two hours, a great improvement on what has been going on heretofore.

Boing on heretofore.

Dobson the Star.

While Pierce deserves many words of praise for showing that he really can pitch when he tries. Dobson was the bright particular star of the game, though every man of the Colts did his work in the most approved style. It was his hit which scored the first run for the locals, and it was his fielding which kept the grand total for the visitors down to one.

The locals drew a blank in the first, but Norfolk got a man as far as second. In the second the Colts showed heir mettle, for, after Wallace and dartin had gone out by easy routes, dattis hit so hard and so fast down its base line that he slowed up only t third. Dobson produced the necesary swat from somewhere in his makeup, slamming a double to the oncosite corner of the lot, and Mattis Malked across. George Cowan, with het managerial togs hanging closely boot him, waved and Dobson remaind at second.

in working during the third inning.
Of course, he did not know what was coming to him, and there was no manager on hand to tell him about it because Babb had been driven to the hiding place during the previous frame, as before narrated. But, anyway, Poole made a mistake, which cost him three runs and the game. Cy Pierce, now a member of the newlywed fraternity, smashed his willow against the leather for two real bases, and pulled up not even winded. Baker walked, and Priest advanced the two while he was going out on a skater.

It was learned yesterday that the site upon which those who are interested in the mile board track for automobile racing have their eyes is situated on the Three Chop Road, just a short distance from the country clubhouse of the Richmond Automobile Club. It is understood that the Virginia Railway and Power Company owns this land, and some say that the company might be induced to donate the land in the event a sufficient sum is raised for the purpose of constructing the track and grandstand. The estimated cost of this work is about $10,000, and one-fifth of this sum has already been subscribed.
